Judge Marty Nosich, of the Trumbull County Eastern District Court in Brookfield, recently hosted three Lakeview High School seniors for their job shadowing project. This is the third group of Lakeview students that Judge Nosich has hosted since the inception of this program. On October 24th, the court opened its doors for this special job shadowing event, providing participants with an inside look at the daily operations and responsibilities of various court roles. This event aims to give the students a comprehensive understanding of the judicial process by allowing them to observe and interact with key court personnel. Judge Thomas Campbell of the Trumbull County Central District Court brought two Lakeview students to the beginning of the court day in Brookfield and then returned to the Central Court in Cortland for those students to observe proceedings there. The students spent their day observing traffic and criminal proceedings, and hearing directly from court clerks, attorneys, sheriff deputies, public defenders and the judge about their specific education and work backgrounds. At the end of the day the students were provided with lunch and Judge Nosich answered additional questions. Judge Nosich said, "I want to thank Principal Herrholtz and the Lakeview schools. We are thrilled to offer this program to those students that are interested in the legal profession. This event provides invaluable exposure to the inner workings of the court and helps students make informed decisions about their future careers. I look forward to working with Principal Herrholtz and Lakeview Schools in the future to continue offering these opportunities to the students."
